Abstract

The invention relates to methods of identifying genes involved in cognitive impairment and compositions for treating cognitive impairment.